WELCOME TO BIRUBI POINT ABORIGINAL PLACE

Birubi closely translates to "Southern Cross" in the local indigenous language. This constellation of stars has been used for millennia to navigate this vast landscape and is significant to all Australians.

In pre-1788 times, Birubi Point Aboriginal Place was an important burial and ceremonial site for the traditional Worimi Aboriginal people. The ceremonial site is believed to be associated with men's ceremonies. A story about an important Worimi warrior is also associated with the site.

Today, Birubi Point Aboriginal Place is a site with extensive archaeological material important for teaching current and future generations about Birubi ancestors and local Aboriginal culture.
